The Company believes that the use of these non-GAAP financial measures provides an additional tool for readers to evaluate and understand the business and operations of the Company. These non-GAAP measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as an alternative to, financial measures determined in accordance with GAAP. Other companies may calculate these non-GAAP financial measures differently, and therefore such financial measures may not be directly comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.

Furthermore, no representation is made as to the reasonableness of the assumptions made in this Presentation or the accuracy or completeness of any modeling, scenario analysis or segmentation. The information in this Presentation is not intended to predict actual results and is not assurance given with respect thereto. None of Greenidge, Support.com or their advisors, connected persons or any other persons accepts any liability whatsoever for any loss howsoever arising, directly or indirectly, from this Presentation or its contents. 02 Substantial installed base

- 19 MW of mining in operation currently
- 41 MW fleet expected by the end of July 2021 and 45 MW expected by year-end (already purchased)

03 Proven mining and power plant expertise

Electricity costs and fixed costs are key areas of differentiation for Greenidge

- Captive generation and offsetting power generation revenues ensure best-in-class electricity costs
- Greenidge’s location in a northern, dust-free climate ensures no need for expensive air conditioning
- Low fixed costs from the ability to share facility and labor costs across the power plant and mining operation

Equipment efficiency is often overlooked as a significant factor in mining cost

- Deep relationships with mining hardware manufacturers allow Greenidge to procure the latest, most efficient miners
- At 33 J/TH Greenidge will be among the most efficient miners in operation\(^{(1)}\)

- Goldman Sachs: “There is no question in our mind there will be more digital commerce... and (use of) digital money”
- BlackRock: “Cryptocurrencies are here to stay and they could take the place of gold. It is so much more functional than passing a bar of gold around”

- Square: “We believe that bitcoin has the potential to be a more ubiquitous currency in the future”
- Tesla: “We invested an aggregate $1.50 billion in bitcoin under this policy and may acquire and hold digital assets from time to time or long-term”
Blockchain basics

01. Someone creates a transaction and offers a fee to bitcoin miners in exchange for validating their transaction.

02. The transaction is broadcast to peer-to-peer computers known as nodes.

03. Miners, or a network of nodes, validate the transaction and the user’s status using known algorithms.

04. Once verified the transactions are consolidated to form a data block.

05. The new block is added to an existing blockchain in a way that is permanent and unalterable.

06. The transaction is verified and 6.25 bitcoin + transaction fees are awarded for solving the block.

Transaction fees overview

Bitcoin transaction fees

What are transaction fees?
Every bitcoin transaction must be validated prior to being added to the bitcoin blockchain.

How does Greenidge earn transaction fees?
Every block a miner adds to the blockchain comes with a 6.25 BTC bounty ("block reward") as well as all fees sent with the transactions that were included in that block.

The bitcoin algorithm rewards miners with extra bitcoin for processing transactions; when the price of bitcoin is high, transaction fees pay for the cost of power.

Future of transaction fees

As use of the bitcoin network expands, Greenidge will take advantage of increased transaction fees
As transactions are processed in priority sequence based on fee amounts, increased transaction volume leads to congestion. This particularly affects lower fee transactions, which creates an incentive to nominate higher fees to ensure timely transaction processing.

As the total number of Bitcoin drops as a result of future halvings, transaction fees will become a major incentive for miners
As block rewards become scarcer over time, a greater share of bitcoin liquidity will come from transactions, thereby making transaction fees a more substantial share of miner revenue over time.
Transaction fees will play a significant role as the bitcoin network continues to grow

Disclaimer (cont'd)

Non-GAAP Financial Measures
This presentation includes non-GAAP financial measures, such as EBITDA. Greenidge believes that these non-GAAP measures are useful to readers for two principal reasons. First, they believe these measures may assist readers in comparing performance over various reporting periods on a consistent basis by removing from operating results the impact of items that do not reflect core operating performance. Second, these measures are used by Greenidge's management to assess its performance. Greenidge believes that the use of these non-GAAP financial measures provides an additional tool for readers to evaluate and understand the business and operations of Greenidge. These non-GAAP measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as an alternative to, financial measures determined in accordance with GAAP. Other companies may calculate these non-GAAP financial measures differently, and therefore such financial measures may not be directly comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.
